DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 4-5 and 8 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shim.

A fitting for releasably connecting a first tube end 122 to a second tube end 103 a substantially coaxial, end-to-end orientation, wherein said second tube end has an outer diameter within a specified range, said fitting comprises:

a slightly resilient clamping structure 130 having a plurality of inwardly projecting prominences 131;

said first tube end having a sidewall and a plurality of holes 128 therethrough; said holes sized, shaped and located to allow passage of said prominences therethrough to contact an outer surface of said second tube end; wherein the collar has an axially variable resiliency (130 is more resilient than the section of 130 where 131 is located because sleeve 130 is thinner than 131)

In regard to claim 4, wherein said clamping structure further comprises a sleeve-shaped body 130.

In regard to claim 5, wherein said prominences 131 are evenly spaced apart.

In regard to claim 8, wherein said clamping structure 130 is axially symmetric.

Art Unit: 3679

In regard to claim 10, the prominences 131 are biased radially inwardly (via 130).

3. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lane.

An auto-adapting fitting for releasably connecting in a substantially coaxial, end-to-end orientation, a first tube end 11 to a second tube end 12 where said second tube end has an outer diameter within a specified range, comprises:

a tubular feed port 11 having a first axial opening;

said port 11 being shaped to have a plurality of apertures (holes for pins 50) extending radially through said side wall proximate to said opening; and a slightly resilient annular retaining ring 49 circumferentially mounted to said outer wall, said ring having a plurality of friction prominences 50 penetrating through said aperture into said port; wherein each of the prominences 50 comprises an axially medial hump.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shim. Shim discloses resilient clamping structure with a number of prominences, but does not at least 6 prominences. However, it would have been obvious to supply 6 prominences because duplicating the components of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Harza, 274 F.2d 669, 124 USPQ 378 (CCPA 1960).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 3 is allowed.
7. Claims 2 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 1/26/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Shim discloses a collar with an axially variable resiliency as described above.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
